Broward College's Media Relations Department, the college's official source of information for the media, is the primary contact for print, broadcast and electronic media seeking information about the college. We take a proactive role in disseminating news, features and story ideas to the local and national media.

If you'd like to share your story, the Media Relations Department is here to help.

Tell us your story idea, and we'll work with you to find the best way to position it for optimal news coverage. Using the strong relationships we've built with the press, we will leverage your story for varied media placements.

If you are contacted by the media, feel free to respond to questions posed concerning your department or area of expertise. If you are concerned about speaking with the media, contact Media Relations for assistance.

In order to avoid confusion or duplication of effort and to assist the College in building strong relationships with the press, please notify Media Relations of contact with media representatives.
